

Roberto Gell Reggae4i

Roberto Gell

Can't Tell

Jamaica
Work Hard

Play All

Tracks

Roberto Gell

Members:

Roberto Gell, lead & rhythm; alongside east and west coast bands I-Trinity, The Midnight Ravers, and Dub Station

Influences:

Peter Tosh, Hip Hop, roots Reggae, Rastafari & all world faiths

Sounds Like:

the next generation of cultural Reggae

About The Artist:

Recently basing himself and touring from Southern California, good things are coming from this rising, cultural singer/songwriter. Dominican-American Roberto Gell's Caribbean roots take him into to the heart of the Reggae archipelago. Having studied both the music & philosophy of Rastafari (among others in his modern, composite tradition), he's created a fascinating blend of songs that showcase his rapping and singing skills in both English and Spanish.

Appearing just before Midnite at the Montreal Reggae Festival this year, Roberto Gell toured Canada last summer with his West Coast band I-Trinity. Gell also works with the East Coast Dub Station, and has toured with Abijah, performing Festivals and club dates in anticipation of his current premier EP "Midnight Ravers" (to come out later as a ... Read More

Artist's

AirPlay Direct Website:

www.airplaydirect.com/music/bands/20276/

Artist's Itunes Store Link:

iTunes.com

Artist's MySpace Website:

www.myspace.com/robertogell

Artist's Direct Website:

www.RobertoGell.com