Jamaican roots music, Irish music, the classics of 60's-90's rock

Sounds Like:

Bob Marley meets the Beatles

About The Artist:

Dub Station, the award-winning band that has backed dozens of legendary artists & toured internationally - has selected Tom O'Brien not only as their rhythm guitarist and backup singer, but as LEAD vocalist, for his unique and memorable performances.

The combination is available this summer for club & festival dates, and may be working together before long on a follow up to O'Brien's eclectic first album.

This Irish-American talent delivers poetic, thought provoking lyrics (click to read them in each song listing of this DPK). Complex chord-changes flow over a bed of authentic roots Reggae.

Though recording (and having toured extensively himself) in the U.S. Tom O'Brien performed recently in Jamaica, where he was told by Sean Paul's father: "you sound like Bob Marley." ... Read More
